SHERIFFDOM OF LOTHIAN & BORDERS AT EDINBURGH

REPORT - by

SH

F.M.McCONNELL SSC Joint Auditor 12 Drumsheugh Gardens Edinburgh EH3 7QG

on Joint Remit

- The Scottish Legal Aid Board and
- 2) David Jack Advocate

15th NOVEMBER 2001

EDINBURGH

Background

- 1. David Jack, Advocate, had been instructed to act for a mother in connection with a referral from the Childrens Panel to the Sheriff. It was alleged that a young child had been seriously abused; not only was she considered at risk but her sister was also taken into care standing the nature of the allegations against the mother.
- 2. During the course and at the conclusion of these proceedings Faculty Services Ltd., on behalf of Mr. Jack, issued a number of fee notes covering taking instructions, consultations, preparation, Court appearances and the like. With the exception of two of these fee notes the Board consider that the fees charged are excessive. Attempts were made to reach agreement but Mr. Jack considers his fees are, on any view, reasonable hence the remit to me for taxation.

Submissions on behalf of A. Jack

3. Mr. Jack was present with his clerk. Prior to the taxation his clerk had provided me with copies of decisions by the Auditor of Court at Hamilton (the provided was issued last year and by my colleague Ian Balfour at Edinburgh (the Moir case) dated 26th October 1999. There were common features and it was submitted these cases could be of assistance to me in determining this Taxation.

- 4. In addition, and of considerable assistance, Mr. Jack had prepared written submissions in support which I have produced with this report.
- 5. In the course of these proceedings he had rendered 15 separate notes of fee numbered 1 to 15. It was a matter of concession that the fee notes numbered 7 and 15 were not in dispute.
- 6. In developing his written submissions Mr. Jack placed great emphasis on the complexities of the edical evidence. The allegation against the mother were to the effect that over a long period she had been systematically poisoning her daughter. Running parallel with the Childrens Hearing proceedings were criminal proceedings for attempted murder. It was necessary to instruct reports from eminent consultants in a number of disciplines. Not only had these reports to be read, they had to be comprehended and understood. That required intensive reading and consideration.
- 7. This research and consideration was crucial in deciding 1) whether the particular consultants should be led in evidence, 2) whether it might be possible to enter into joint minutes of admissions and 3) to lay the foundations for the cross examination of Crown witnesses. There was also to be considered the criminal proceedings which had been commenced.
- 8. In so far as proceedings in the referral were deemed civil in character there was an issue with evidence which, though competent and relevant in these proceedings, could be detrimental to the mother, the accused, in the criminal proceedings.
- 9. This was a unique case; it had to be decided on its own merits. The daily rate selected, i.e. £1,100.00 and subject to the 10% reduction was, on his view, reasonable. Counsel emphasised that the fees he was claiming had already been subject to the 10% reduction. Mr. Jack then took me through the individual invoices:

Fee Note 1 - £350 that was the initial consultation. It required a degree of preparation and generally discussing what had to be faced and the way forward.

Fee Note 2 - £350

this related to the first appearance in Court dealing with a number of matters, e.g. extending the authority to keep the children in a place of safety, issues of interim contact, discussions with the Court as to the form and nature of further proceedings. He had only charged £350 which was less than what could have been charged for a half day.

Counsel indicated that he did not get out of Court until around 11.05

and thereafter there was a discussion with the client and his instructing

Solicitor.

Fee Note 3 - £350 this was a further procedural attendance in Court combined with discussions with the client - all similar to Fee Note 2. Again only £350 was charged.

Fee Note 4 - £100

this was for a four page Note which was highly relevant to the issues particular in relation to the issue of how the rehearsal of evidence before the Sheriff could be prejudicial to the client in the criminal proceedings.

Fee Note 5 - £350

This was an important consultation with the mother beginning to go into the complexities of her daughter's condition.

Fee Note 6 - £250

this related to a Note on line of evidence which ran to 4 pages - there had to be careful consideration of all the issues and the Note, which is highly detailed, speaks for itself.

Fee Note 7 - £350.00

this invoice was agreed.

Fee Note 8 - £150 this was a further Note on the line of evidence - the children had been interviewed by the police and the interviews had been videoed.

This had to be considered along with 1 or 2 other matters.

Fee Note 9 - £350 this related to a consultation with the mother discussing at length the terms of certain medical reports which had come in.

Fee Note 10 - £350

this was a further Court attendance which went on to the afternoon

- it was necessary to seek an adjournment which was granted. Only a restricted fee has been charged. Counsel confirmed that following the appearance he met with the Reporter and Safeguarder to discuss a number of matters.

Fee Note 11 - £2000.00 this fee represents the first two full days in Court

Fee Note 12 - £2000.00

Counsel conceded that fee notes rendered for his days in Court subsumed a degree of preparation and complexity. But he argued that this fee note did not represent any duplication or overlapping. The work done under this heading was additional and the hours spent were well spent in so far as his level of preparation ensured that Court time was saved and avoided having to call specialists who had provided reports but where it was decided, on balance, that their evidence would not assist. Mr. Jack estimated that he had spent some 26 hours in relation to the work specified in this fee note. It had to be done to prepare the ground work for the cross-examination of witnesses.

Fee Note 13 - £5000.00

the case had been set down for 5 days but in the event only 4 days of evidence were heard between 14th and 17th November on which date the Court made avizandum. Counsel argued that he was entitled to the fifth day under the normal rule.

Fee Note 14 - £1000.00 this represented the further day in Court

Fee Note 15

this fee note was agreed.

- £350

10. Finally with regard to the two decisions referred to above he submitted these were favourable to him. The Auditor at Hamilton had recognised the complexity of the proceedings and this had been reflected in fees to Counsel which were higher than he was seeking here. With regard to the Moir case he made 3 points 1) the case was decided in 1999 2) the issues he had to deal with in this case were, for the reasons stated, unusually complex and 3) even the Auditor recognised that the fees being claimed by J.R. Moir was on the "light side". His proposed daily rate was not all that much more than what was allowed in the Moir case and far less than in the second to be said his fees were in any way extravagant.

Submissions on behalf of SLAB

a "market" rate. He agreed that this was a complex and difficult case but suggested I should give careful consideration to the Moir case on which he was strongly founding.

- 12. Reference was also made to the decision of Sheriff Convery in the Cassidy v Celtic Football Club 1999 SLT 95 case, though he acknowledged this was a case where the litigants, because of their financial standing, could exercise choice in a way which was denied to a party on legal aid. Where a party was on legal aid the fact that Counsel's fees would ultimately be paid by a third party, i.e. the Board, has to be taken into account in determining a market rate.
- generally adopted the submissions which he made in the and which are fully set out by the Auditor at Hamilton. He accepted that the Auditor at Hamilton had allowed fees an excess of what was being sought here. He distinguished the Clarke case on the basis that this was a far more complex and difficult case than this one. The case had taken some 48 days of Court time. The volume of paper work was enormous and on occasion it was accepted that on some days Counsel could spend 15 hours just reading papers. There was no comparison between the two cases. Moir was more in point and I should follow the reasoning of my colleague Mr. Balfour.
- 14. Taking Moir as the starting point the Board had offered £900.00 as a daily rate against £750.00. That recognised the complexity and responsibility in this case. If one looks at all the fee notes, there are a number which relate to Court attendances. The daily rate charged already incorporated provision for a degree of preparation and complexity. Therefore it was incumbent on me to scrutinise very carefully the fee notes relating to preparation and the like. I had to be satisfied there was no element of duplication between fee notes relating to Court attendances and those for preparation.
- 15. then turned to the particular fee notes:-

Fee Note 1.

This consultation lasted 1.25 hours. £350.00 has been charged. £200-£250 would be reasonable.

Fee Notes 2 & 3

These relate to Court attendances - not all day attendances though he did accept there would have been some discussions before and after the appearances.

Fee Note 4.

Having reconsidered the charge he had now no objection to it.

Fee Note 5.

This was a consultation lasting 2.5 hours- he considered the fee charged £350.00 to be on the high side.

Fee Note 6

This was for the note on the line of evidence which again he thought excessive.

Fee Note 7

There is no objection to this fee.

Fee Note 8

This was a second note on line - queried if it was necessary.

Fee Note 9

Consultation lasting 2 hours 20 minutes - £350.00 seems excessive.

Fee Note 10

A fee of £350.00 has been charged for appearing in Court essentially to make a motion to adjourn the case for a short period to allow defence to be put in order should be abated.

Fee Note 11

This involved 2 full days in Court at £1000.00 per day - daily rate ought to be reduced.

Fee Note 12

£2000.00 is being claimed for further consideration of reports and giving consideration to the progress of the case all as detailed in the Fee Notes. Counsel is being paid a daily rate for 7 days in Court and his daily fee must reflect a level of preparation, complexity and responsibility - the sum claimed could not be justified in full and ought to be abated.

Fee Note 13

Counsel has charged 5 days for 4 days in Court. In the circumstances of this case not justified in charging £1000.00 for 5th day.

Fee Note 14

This is a charge of £1000.00 for a Court day - falls to be considered under the daily rate.

Fee Note 15

No objection to this fee.

Decision

16. I was grateful to both parties for their careful and helpful submissions. Plainly the matter is of considerable importance for both sides. Having heard submissions, I have no doubt whatsoever that this was a case of unusual complexity and difficulty which involved a considerable amount of research and preparation. That was also recognised by the Sheriff who allowed the instructing Solicitors an uplift of 50% on their fees. That being so I consider the daily rate of £1000.00 (which is the net fee having deducted the 10%) is reasonable and I do not propose interfering with it. In coming to this decision I do not think I am at variance with the approach of Mr. Balfour in the Moir case.

That was over 2 years ago; and even then the Auditor thought that the fee claimed, standing the complexity and responsibility, was "on the light side". More appropriate is the approach of the Auditor at Hamilton who in a case of unusual complexity and length fixed a daily rate in excess of what is being sought here. Counsel in this case by selecting a daily rate of £1000.00 manages, I think, to reflect a rate which is not in any sense extravagant and does reflect the complexity, difficulty and responsibility of the case.

17. The party paying is not the client; it is the Legal Aid Board and I agree that the Auditor has to ake this into account. The Civil Legal Aid (Scotland) Fees Regulations 1989 provide by:-

Regulation 9 that "Subject to the provisions of Regulation 10 regarding calculation of fees, Counsel may be allowed such fees as are reasonable for conducting the Proceedings in a proper manner, as between Solicitor and Client, This Party paying" and Regulation 10(2) that "Counsel's fees for any work in relation to Proceedings in the Sheriff Court......shall be 90% of the amount of fees which would be allowed for that work on a Taxation of expenses between Solicitor and Client, Third Party paying, if the work done were not Legal Aid".

I have already dealt with the daily rate for Court attendances. Objections were also taken to fees charged for consultations, preparations, research and so on. Having heard submissions and taking an overview of the whole case I think equity would be served were I to tax the invoices as follows:-

		-10-
1	Fee claimed	Abatement	Fee allowed
Fee Note 1	£350.00	£50.00	£300.00

JOINT AUDITOR

TAXATION OF COUNSELS FEES SUBMISSIONS

re.

two applications to the sheriff to find grounds of referral established under s.65 of the Children (Sc) Act 1995

This taxation is in respect of counsels fees charged within the proper conduct of two referrals to Edinburgh Sheriff Court from the childrens hearing system to have grounds of referral established or not. The referrals were in connection with two children, sisters, KH and CH then aged 9 and 11 respectively.

- there are a total of 15 fee notes rendered by FSL on behalf of junior counsel
- as is understood SLAB offer payment in full of fee note numbers 7 and 15 only
- varying abatements have been suggested in respect of the remaining fee notes
- what is sought is, at least, the payment in full of all the outstanding fee notes ( any increases thereto being solely a matter for the Auditor).

To assist the Auditor, the following may be useful background information;

- There were two referrals one in respect of each child being heard simultaneously.
   The referrals related to;
- a) KH being a child who suffered long term health problems. There was at one stage a diagnosis of ataxia telangiectasia and later a diagnosis of a variant thereof. There were suggestions of cerebellar dysfunction; hypernatraemic dehydration; dietary problems; neurological problems; mild ataxic cerebral palsy. There was a history of feeding problems. There had been nasogastric feeding; gastrostomy tube feeding and fundoplication. The child had been the subject of many referrals to many different medical disciplines over the years. It was said there had been 17 emergency admissions over the preceeding 4 or 5 years. Sodium levels in the child were recorded as high. A specific incident on 10 March 2000 indicated very high sodium levels with a resultant life threatening condition. It was alleged that there had been the deliberate external administration of salt by SH, the natural mother - whom counsel acted on behalf of.

- b) CH was the elder sister of KH and the basis of the referral in connection with that child was that she a member of the same household as KH.
- 2. SH had been charged with the attempted murder of her daughter; she had appeared on petition and had been released on bail subject to certain conditions. That all occurred prior to the hearing of evidence commencing in these applications.
- 3. Throughout the case there existed the undercurrent theme of the syndrome known as "Munchausen Syndrome by Proxy".

   nied-id a digne of miscaich formula sha
- 4. The grounds of referral involved allegations of systematic and prolonged salt poisoning. The complexity of the case was apparant from the many sources of medical and expert evidence. { reference is made to FSL letter of 25/7/2001 to SLAB}
- 5. There were extensive expert reports that required very careful scutiny to allow for comprehension and proper preparation and conduct of the case. There were by necessity numerous court diets and consultations. One of the earliest problems was the possible prejudice of forthcoming criminal proceedings by the hearing and cross-examination of evidence at the referral proceedings. Other persons such as care assistants/family members and their actions required scrutiny. Toxicology evidence was required. Dietary evidence was required. Scientific and bio-chemical evidence was at the centre of the case. Procedures within the hospital and laboratories were an issue. Other factors requiring comprehension and investigation were brain swelling; alpha feto protein levels; kidney function; unlicensed paediatric medication used in hospitals; fractional excretion of sodium; plasma creatine; urine creatine; plasma and urine sodium; and blood/urea concentration. The above list is not exhaustive. The case involved an intricate diagnostic process.
- 6. The SLAB letter of 22/8/2001 confirms the novelty, complexity and gravity of the cause.
- 7. The solicitors acting for SH received from the presiding sheriff the maximum available uplift in their fees 50 %.
- 8. Criminal proceedings in the High Court are progressing and sanction for the employment of senior counsel has been granted by SLAB.

Reference is made to the Civil Legal Aid (Sc) (Fees) Regulations 1989 - and in particular reg. 9 and 10(2) thereof.

- reasonable fees for conducting the proceedings in a proper manner are sought
- 90% of fees on the basis of Solicitor and client, third party paying, in a non legal aid case are appropriate.

In the note by the Joint Auditor dated 26 October 1999, SLAB appear to accept that where particular expertise was required or unusual complexity was present then a fee above the "going rate" would be justified.

In this particular case a counsel of some experience was required and one with expertise in child law related matters/referrals was needed. In addition there was the overlap of the civil and criminal aspects of this case which necessitated particular knowledge.

Novelty, complexity and gravity of the case appears not to be in dispute.

As far as a "going rate" is concerned it can be submitted that there is no "going rate" and each case requires to be considered upon its own individual features. This was a case of a specialised medical and legal nature. The number of "experts" involved was high.

The case of Cassidy v Celtic Football and Athletic Co. Ltd. 1995 SLT (Sh Ct) 95, assists at page 97 G, in showing what may be an extravagant/unfair fee.

In the current case have regard to;

the number of witnesses

the specialist nature of the witnesses

the nature of the research required

the substantial productions/health/hospital records requiring consideration

the expert reports

the high level of preparation required

the time period of the alleged systematic poisoning - 4 years the duration of the medical problems of KH - circa 7 years

It is submitted that the fees rendered are reasonable and indeed could be said to be "light".

There is the report of the Auditor of Court at Hamilton regarding the accounts of MC and DC, advocates. At page 9 thereof one can see the reports of some cases from 1997 to 2000. In that case a rate of £1500 per day was deemed "fair and reasonable"

Each case does contain its own features and circumstances. The current case involved unique and complex medical matters. Counsel required to have a thorough understanding of such matters. Familiarisation with all relevant information and productions was necessary.

It is submitted that a daily fee of at least £1100 to £1200 (scaled down by 10% to £1000) is appropriate in this case and could be said to be conservative for a matter of such peculiarity, speciality and complexity.

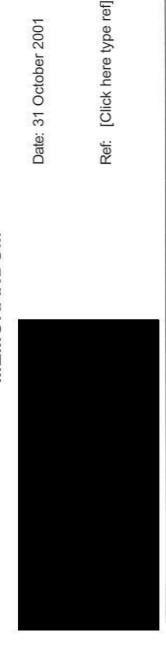

The presiding sheriff - well acquainted with the features of the case - granted the maximum uplift to the instructing agents.

The fees are not extravagant. Indeed they could justifiably have been set at a higher rate without being deemed extravagant.

Fee notes 1 to 15 (apart from numbers 7 and 15 - upon which there is no dispute) can properly be deemed as fair and reasonable.

SCOTTISH LEGAL AID BOARD MEMORANDUM

TAXATION - 7 NOVEMBER 2001

CH/0059926900

Further to our earlier conversation, I enclose the various papers in respect of the above named.

Counsel has claimed a daily rate of £1000 for Edinburgh which was originally offered at £810. There were also various consultations which were offered at a rate comparable to those usually applied in Civil Sheriff Court cases i.e. approximately £100 per hour. Notably, there was also a claim for separate preparation of £2000, for which no allowance was made. Following receipt of letter dated 25 July 2001, I confirmed to counsel's clerk that I would be prepared to increase the daily rate to £900. This was confirmed as being acceptable to counsel but other abatements proposed were not. My letter of 19 September advised that the daily rate reflects the novel and serious nature of the charges and accordingly I was not in a position to improve upon the offer made. However at that time I invited a counter-proposal from counsel, their response simply being to lodge the account for taxation.

As always, if you feel the offer made could be improved upon then I will obviously go along with that.
